

OTHER WORLD

dance performance in a classroom for children 6+

"Did you notice what happen in the class when kids are out of school?"

Other World invites you to dive into the depths of a classroom.

In everyday school life, a classroom is a practically arranged place. All the things, bags, desks, pens, and books are used "zick-zack": quickly and with a precise function. What would it be like if we paused for a moment and watched things closely - all the things in the room that we are so familiar with?

It might be the chance to see things under a different light, noticing what happens in a classroom when kids are out of school. To do this we first have to stop, distance ourselves, sit on the edge of the room and observe from a different perspective. Just in that very moment we might be able to notice the traces of the campfire that the chairs organized last night...

"Other World" is a dance performance specifically conceived to take place in a classroom, an aesthetic experience for elementary school children that will change the perspective of their familiar surroundings.
